SOVIET GOVERNMENT OF RUSSIA TO PURCHASE AMERICAN GOODS

LEASES HUGE TRACT

American Interests Given Rights in Rich Lands Of Russia

Moscow, by wireless to Berlin, Nov. 11.—The soviet government of Russia has contracted to purchase $1,000,000 worth of merchandise in the United States in 1921 through the syndicate headed by Washington D. Vanderlip, a banker of Los Angeles, Cal., and announced here by Mr. Vanderlip, before his departure for Reval on a special train. The American financier said he was well satisfied with the result of his negotiations with the soviet government. This sentiment was echoed by Russian officials. The commercial order secured here for fulfillment in the United States is the biggest in the history of the world.

The correspondent of the International News Service met Mr. Vanderlip at the foreign office, just after he had signed the contract for a long lease on a gigantic slice of Siberia and Kamchatka—a tract as big as an empire. The banker was smiling and happy over the success of his deal. He gave the International News Service the following signed statement:

"For the foreign press and the American people—

"It has been brought to my attention that our secretary of state, Mr. Bainbridge Colby, made a statement to the effect that I was in Moscow at the instigation of Senator (now president-elect) Harding negotiating for recognition of soviet Russia by the United States. I came to Russia for the Vanderlip syndicate and secured on terms of 60 years 400,000 square miles of Russian territory rich in oil, coal and fish. This acquisition gives the United States control of the oil situation on the Pacific. I have also obtained an understanding whereby the Russian government will purchase in the United States during 1921 merchandise worth $1,000,000 offering in payment, gold, platinum, furs, oil products, manganese copper timber, pulpwood, hides, grain and other raw materials.

Supplies Ready.

"Great quantities of these supplies are ready for immediate shipment to America. The commodities not needed in the United States will be distributed throughout European countries. In a few months the unsettled conditions in the far east, which have enabled Japan to secure almost a complete monopoly on trade, will be brought back to normal conditions and goods purchased in America will move freely from all Pacific coast ports over the Chinese Eastern railway and the Siberian Railway as well as the Baltic, the Murmansk ports and the Black Sea ports.

"The Vanderlip syndicate purposes to act as fiscal agents for the Russian soviet government immediately upon restoration of trade traffic and the abandonment of the British blockade. The Russian government is perfectly capable of carrying out any trade contracts between it and citizens of the United States because it is to the interest of the Soviet government to develop economic relations such as stipulated by this contract.

"The Russian government is the oldest in Europe today. Its ministry has not been changed in upwards of three years which is not true of any other first class European power.

"All parts of the United States will benefit by the restoration of trade relations—from California to Maine; from Washington to Florida. Factories will expand and run on full time. Farmers, merchants and all classes of labor will share in the prosperity. If the majority of American people will no longer tolerate the chaotic conditions now prevailing in Europe they must seize this great opportunity to bring peace and reconstruction to the world. The keystone of these conditions is the opening of trade relations between the United States and the soviet Russian Republic."

UKRAINIANS LAUNCH ATTACK AGAINST REDS

Violent fighting is reported from the region of Kherson.

STEAMER WRECKED BY TYPHOON; DEATH LIST REACHES 45

Survivor Tells of Tragedy Near Philippines Last Week.

Manila, P. I., Nov. 11.—Forty-eight persons are believed to have perished when the coastwise steamer San Basilio was struck by a typhoon last Wednesday, en route to Puerto Bello, Leyte Island, South Philippines, according to a survivor reaching here. Fifteen survivors reached Cebu. There were 64 people aboard the vessel.

News of the disaster was brought here by Concordia Fardo, a survivor, picked up by the steamer Samal after drifting four days in an open boat.

Puerto Bello is on the south coast of Leyte, more than 300 miles south of Manila, and in the center of a typhoon belt. It is the only safe anchorage from typhoons on the south coast of Leyte.

PLANES WILL CROSS ATLANTIC IN DAY DECLARES INVENTOR

Next Ten Years' Development Visualized In Prediction.

New York, Nov. 11.—Passenger airplanes will cross the Atlantic in a day's flight within five or ten years. These airplanes will carry no engines, but will utilize the energy known to be in the air for propelling power.

This was the prediction of Anthony H. G. Fokker, the 30-year-old inventor of Holland, who arrived here on the Holland-American liner Noordam, from Rotterdam. Fokker, however, is more than a dreamer. The airplane that bears his name was Germany's chief reliance in the aerial warfare during the World War.

HARDING WINS IN GOVERNOR'S COUNTY

Dayton, O., Nov. 11.—Governor Cox's home county gave him 38,433 votes while Harding got 46,493, according to the official count sent to the state today. In the city of Dayton, the governor's home, Harding led by 5,353. Davis and Donohy's votes for governor were 43,532 and 45,962, respectively. The Crabbe acts totals were yes, 42,289; no, 38,507.

OBJECTS TO SPOUSE THROWING CLOCKS

Ravenna, O., Nov. 11.—Having a clock hurled at her head with telling effect is not her idea of domestic happiness, according to a divorce petition filed here by Goldie Sheffield against Lee V. Sheffield, her husband. She says her husband was cruel when he selected the time piece as a means of conducting warfare. They were married in 1919. She asks the court to restrain Sheffield from repeating his clock episode.

WALL STREET BLAST CAUSED BY LABOR UNIONS IS CHARGED

Building Trades Graft Re- sponsible Says New York World

STORY IS PUBLISHED After Careful Investigation Newspaper Reveals Story

New York, Nov. 11.—The great Wall street explosion on Sept. 16, which cost thirty lives and property damage of millions, was not caused by anarchistic or "red" activities, but was the direct result of war between rival labor unions in New York, according to a sensational story published by the Evening World today after an investigation of weeks.

"The building trades graft was responsible for the crime," asserts the World.

The World said: "The Evening World here presents proof that 1,800 men, nearly all foreign born, sober, industrious, efficient and well disciplined—House wreckers local No. 95, known recently as the 'Polish Union' and 'Zarankos union'—have within a space of 18 months been subjected to an amazing conspiracy of greed and injustice and the explosion was the result of this tyranny. The building trades graft was responsible for the crime. The Evening World does not charge the union, as a union with responsibility. It was the work of individuals, possibly inside the union, possibly the work of sympathizers.

WRATH BREAKS OUT

"Further proofs are presented that the wrath and resentment of these workmen and their fellows who knew of their tragic loss right to avert vagrancy and starvation in days of overflowing labor opportunity was centered not only on their arch oppressor, Robert P. Brindell, dictator of the labor trades council, but also upon house wrecking contractors."

Robert P. Brindell mentioned in the story, has been the central figure of an investigation by the Lockwood legislative committee which has resulted in amazing disclosures of graft in the building trades industry in New York. Witnesses both labor and contractors, have testified that Brindell was so powerful that he "shook down" both sides for huge sums. Contractors testified that they had to pay Brindell large sums to be allowed to work. Failure to deal with Brindell, they said, resulted in his calling off the men at this time.

While Brindell was a "dictator" in the trades unions, the World sets forth he had many enemies in labor ranks. Small unions hated him because they were forced to pay tribute to him.

It was the culmination of this hate against Brindell's organization the World says, which resulted in this explosion.

Desire for revenge was the compelling motive behind the crime. On the day of the explosion, the Brindell organization were working on an excavation at Broad and Wall streets.

"The middle of September," continues the World, "at that time, their feeling against the Brindell organization was at its bitterest. Their (the smaller units in the industry) appeals to city authorities, to affiliated unions, to the American Federation of Labor and to fair play among the contractors, had failed. At that time, Albert A. Volk, was carrying on the demolition of the

FAILS TO TAKE WIFE TO CHURCH; DIVORCE

Marietta, O., Nov. 11.—Charging her husband, Aubrey Morris, persistently refused to perform his "husbandly duty" of accompanying her to church and Sunday school, Mrs. Sarah Morris today filed suit for divorce.

BLAZING SHIP MENACES SHIPPING BEFORE TUGS SUCCEED IN BEACHING IT

New York, Nov. 11.—After a spectacular race against time down the Hudson river, surrounded by puffing tugs and fireboats and with flames licking about her forward decks, the burning Morgan line freighter Elmundo today lay beached on the Communipaw flats, near Ellis Island, out of the way of harbor traffic.

Thousands of spectators lined the New York and New Jersey shores and watched the heroic fight of the tiny tugs to drag the burning freighter out of the way as she was threatening to sink and block the shipping channel.

The ship, a craft of 10,000 tons, is almost a complete wreck, with her side torn by blasts and her forward superstructure carried away by the fire.

HARDING TALK DRAWS MIXED BORDER CROWD

Armistice Day Speech Made By President-elect In Texas.

MEXICANS PRESENT

Address Assumes Aspect Of International Affair.

Brownsville, Texas, Nov. 11.—President-elect Warren G. Harding, came out of his seclusion today, struggled with a stiff collar and a badly sunburned neck and paid his tribute to the fighting men of America at the armistice day celebration here.

Late this afternoon the president-elect will deliver the first formal speech he has made since his election. Thousands swarmed into Brownsville to see and hear the next president. Wealthy ranchers coming from the Rio Grande valley in their high powered cars, cattleman riding in on spirited mustangs, sheep herders trailing in on foot covered with alkali dust and hundreds of Mexicans coming in from all northern Mexico, some riding tiny burros and others chugging along in rattling autos and cabs on foot.

It was truly an international affair that the president-elect attended today for the crowd was of wide variety and picturesque indeed, with all sorts of Americans of the border type and dusky Mexicans gayly scarved in huge silk bandanas of the most brilliant hue. In shy retirement among the mobs were many black eyed Mexican women, wearing mantillas of shrieking colors and laces of their own making which were almost priceless.

Mexico is deeply interested in this event, for Mexican leaders hope the president-elect will make some utterance which will indicate his probable future attitude toward Mexico.

UNKNOWN SOLDIER BURIED AMONG ILLUSTRIOUS DEAD

London, Nov. 11.—Amidst Britain's most illustrious dead an unknown soldier was buried in Westminster Abbey today alongside the graves of kings and field marshals. The simple epitaph "an unknown warrior" is the only eulogy upon the granite above the grave, but the burial called forth such solemn and impressive pomp as might have been given the memory of the greatest soldier of the empire.

The burial ceremony took place immediately after the unveiling of the Cenotaph—a great memorial shaft erected in central London to the memory of the British empire's war dead—and was the chief feature of the armistice day celebration. King George united with the nation's foremost statesmen and soldiers in paying homage to the unknown hero who was killed in action on the fields of Flanders.

It was a fine spirit of sentiment which inspired the British government thus to remember its debt to the humble and obscure men of the ranks who gave their lives for their country in the great war. The body of "the unknown warrior" was picked up on the historic battlefield of Ypres, where the British stemmed and held the Germans in their rush to the north coast of France.

GERMANY ISSUES CALL FOR HELP ON ANNIVERSARY OF ARMISTICE DAY

WORLD CELEBRATES ARMISTICE DAY

The whole civilized world united today in observance of armistice day—the second anniversary of the cessation of hostilities on the western battle front. Never before have the great nations of the globe met with such unanimity upon common ground for the celebration of a single event affecting all.

Throughout the British empire, the United States, France, Belgium, and the lesser states the day was observed with fitting ceremonies. Rulers of nations, statesmen, diplomats, soldiers and men of humble walks of life, joined in paying homage to the memory of fallen heroes. There were celebrations in all the important cities of the United States. General Nivelle, former commander in chief of the French army, took part in the ceremonies in New York City.

GENERAL PERSHING ISSUES STATEMENT ON ARMISTICE DAY

Washington, Nov. 11.—On the occasion of the second anniversary of the signing of the armistice which ended the fighting of the great war, the following statement was issued to the nation and the world today:

General John J. Pershing—"The second anniversary of armistice day finds unimpaired the appreciation of those who comprehend the meaning of the great victory achieved on November 11, 1918. This day will come to represent to the civilized world what independence day means to Americans. It struck the death knell of autocratic rule and reversed the doctrine that 'might makes right.' It marks a new epoch in history and establishes a dividing line between the old order and the new."

GOVERNOR ISSUES PROCLAMATION ON DAY OF WAR'S END

Columbus, O., Nov. 11.—"The year closing has been filled with unparalleled blessings in a time of unusual opportunity," declared Governor Cox in his proclamation urging observance of Thursday, Nov. 25, as Thanksgiving day in churches, schools, homes and other places.

"As individuals we have prospered as seldom before," the governor continued. "The harvests are bounteous, the people are happy.

CITY OF CLEVELAND CELEBRATES DAY IN DIFFERENT WAY

Cleveland, O., Nov. 11.—In striking contrast with the manner in which the first armistice day, Nov. 11, 1918 was celebrated, Cleveland today is observing the second anniversary of the crushing of German power.

Then there were noisy demonstrations to the blare of all kinds of sound making instruments on the streets; total strangers embraced each other to give visible expression to their relief over the ending of the bitter struggle.

Today 160 speakers, under the auspices of the American Legion will address school children of the county, attempting to interpret the lessons of the war and the spirit of the United States.

No parade is planned.

DENIES CORRUPTION CHARGE ON STAND

New York, Nov. 11.—Commander Abner B. Clements, assistant to Admiral Benson, chairman of the U. S. Shipping Board, on the witness stand before the congressional investigators here today declared he had "found nothing definite to show that there was corruption of shipping board officials," but admitted that his investigation had disclosed that it was true contractors had been listing laborers at $0 and 90 cents an hour and then paid them only 10 cents an hour, pocketing the difference.

PROMINENT GERMANS PESSIMISTIC OVER AFFAIRS OF NATION

To United States By Leaders.

CHAOS IS HINTED

Agreement Apparent On One Fact That Condi- tions Are Serious.

Berlin, Nov. 11.—A call for help, directed chiefly toward the United States, goes up from Germany on the second anniversary of the armistice which ended the fighting in the world war. Prominent and influential Germans were asked for expressions of opinion on conditions in Germany; on the progress of German affairs during the past two years of peace and on the outlook in the future. The declarations without exceptions are permeated with gloom. Armistice day was not one of wild rejoicing in Germany. The sting of defeat still lingers.

Following are statements on "Germany of today and the possible Germany of tomorrow."

Count Johann von Bernstorff, former German ambassador to the United States—Since the world war has ruined the greater of the European continent, the initiation of a new political era can only be looked for from the victors. The vanquished can do no more than to affirm and prove by hard work that they are imbued with a new spirit, but that, like themselves the victors too will be drawn into the abyss if this new spirit does not rule the old. The only way to save Europe is through reconstruction by co-operation of all nations. This is our idea of the league of nations and we hope that such a league will find more favor in America than the league of Versailles.

SAME IDEALS

Dr. Ernest Dryander, formerly chief court chaplain to the kaiser—At this moment the spiritual condition of Germany is difficult to judge. I am convinced that the nation's thinkers still possess the same ideals, which, one hundred years ago, threw off the yoke of French domination and that they will not willingly submit to having Germany's spiritual level forced downward by the proletariat. The new religious revival whose coming I believe I can perceive already, will help us greatly. It will be more effective that the league of nations for the league, because, of the fearful hatreds its leading members have evoked, will have no influence on the spirit of the people for a long time to come.

Gustave Noske, former minister of defense, and president of the government of Hanover—The future of Germany especially the next few years, has a very sombre outlook in my opinion. The last two years brought us a far reaching democracy and a constitution based on the greatest freedom. The people are not rejoicing because of the great economic distress. Political radicalism is raging and the starving masses are driven to the most daring experiments. I am not yet sure that political and economic chaos can be averted. The only salvation will be when all thoughts of hatred are abandoned a reasonable and faithful co-operation of all peoples is achieved. But as yet America has not made peace with us.

I do not give up faith in a better future.

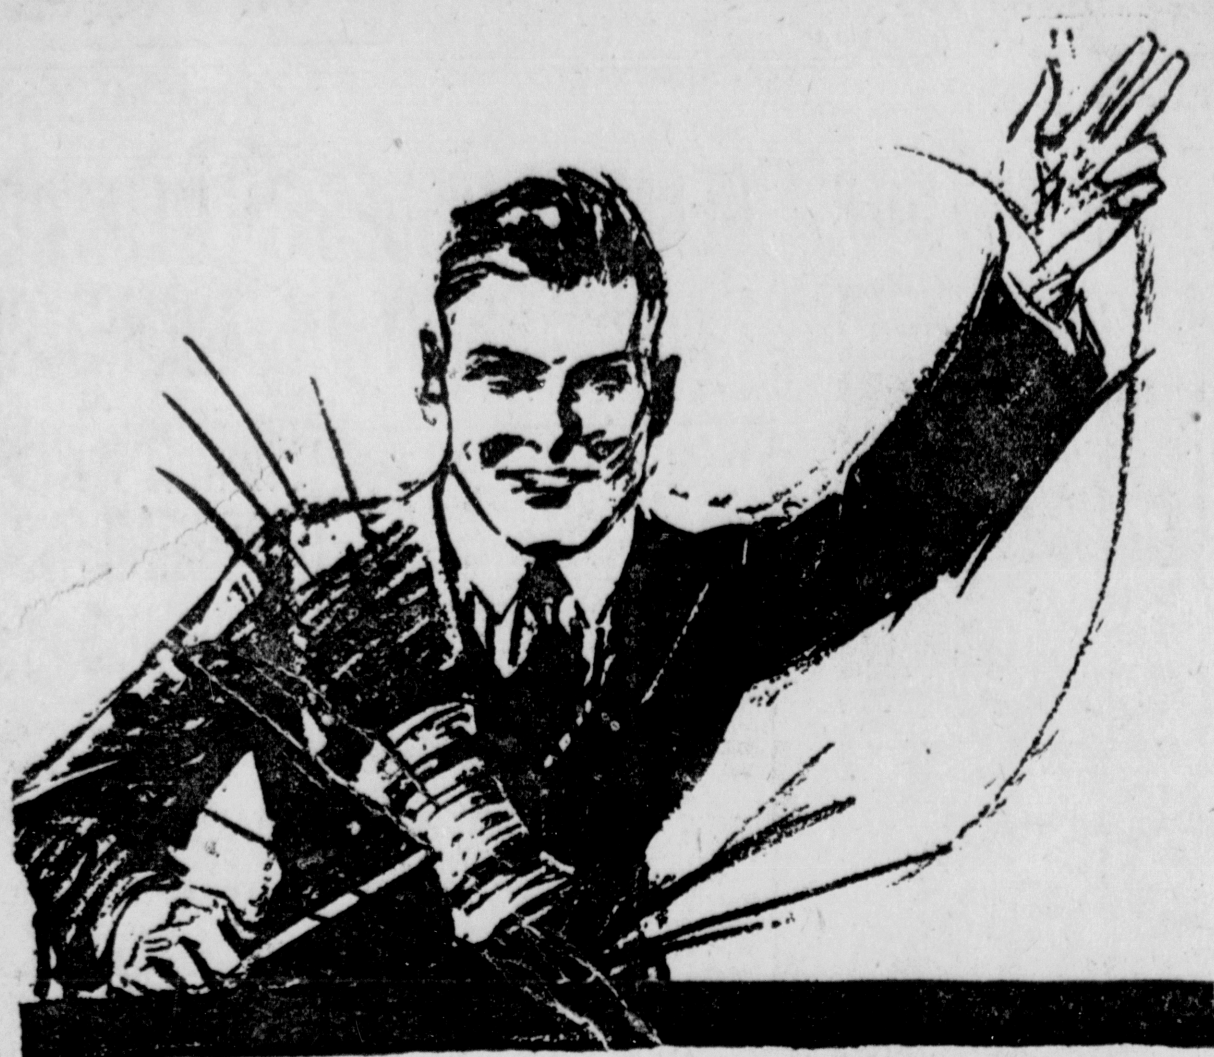

George Gothein, leader of the Democratic Party and former minister of the treasury—The German monarchy was a thing of the past at the time of the signing of the armistice. The outcome of the Von Kapp revolution demonstrated that there is no ground in Germany for a restoration of the monarchy. Germany will not recover so long as the entente insists on carrying out to the letter the impossible peace conditions.

POLICEMEN ORDERED TO RESIGN FROM THEIR ORGANIZATION

Welfare Association Said To Promote An- archy.

Cincinnati, O., Nov. 11.—Declaring that continuation of the Policemen's association, with six hundred members, invites anarchy, the city authorities ordered all members to resign from its membership by Nov. 15 or charges will be filed against them under an order issued in 1917 against policemen's associations.

The leader of the police says that order to disband means a "fight to a finish." He declines, however, to out line plan of procedure.

REVIVE INTEREST IN GAME WITH ALUMNI

With November well on its way, and the football schedules drawing quickly to the big finishing games of the season, annual interest in the usual Thanksgiving Day High school and alumni football game, is again being revived.

Players of last year and the year before, who are in this city are agitating the annual game, and lining up former grid stars for the football classic that generally winds up the high school football season on the turkey day.

According to the rule that has been resorted to in the past only players who have been out of school not more than two years, are eligible to play on the alumni team. This rule this year will provide the graduates with plenty of material. Two years ago practically every football man in the school graduated and with the graduates of last year's team, there will be plenty of material on hand for the Turkey Day battle. The contest will probably be staged in the morning.

Among players who are expected to participate are Bales, Kneer, Richards, Riddell, Mendenhall, Pillsbury, Hymen and Savre from last year's team. Eligible from the year before are such players as Hartsook, Tullis, Eavey, Satterfield, Vannorsdall, and others who won fame on the local checkerboard. Snodgrass who is with this year's Denison squad and Stephens who is on the Miami Freshmen team, will be unable to play because of other games on that day.

POSTPONE CAMPAIGN OF FARM BUREAU

The Membership Campaign for the Greene County Farm Bureau has been postponed from November 29 as previously announced to January 3, 1921.

"This was found necessary in view of the fact that the State Farm Bureau is far behind with its various campaigns due to the busy harvest and seeding season we have just passed through," County Agent Ford S. Prince says.

The campaign this year is a Co-operative one, the County furnishing the men to drive and the State Farm Bureau furnishing the solicitors.

Township Chairmen are appointing the drivers from the various school districts who will pilot the solicitors around during the week of January 3.

The Student Council held a meeting Wednesday morning at which it was decided to hold exercises to celebrate Armistice Day in the way of two assemblies, one to be held in the morning for the juniors and seniors and the other in the afternoon for the freshmen and sophomores. A committee was appointed to secure speeches for the assemblies and Capt. Charles L. Darlington agreed to speak during the morning assembly and Doctor Kent Finley in the afternoon.

During the morning assembly Miss Haynes led the students in the song America which was followed by the interesting address of Capt. Darlington in which he dwelt on the high spirit of the American soldier and what he accomplished over there and the ways and means of furthering the Americanization of the foreigners. His address was followed by the singing of the Star Spangled Banner by the whole assemblage led by Miss Haynes. The students then returned to their third period classes.

Samples of the pictures of the students of the high school and of the football squad have been received by Mr. Pendry and have been pronounced good pictures, due to the many orders received.

Several of the junior's class pins and rings have arrived and have made quite a hit with the student body.

buildings on the site of the stock exchange building annex at Broad and Wall streets.

The World goes on to state that the bomb was carried to the scene of the explosion in a wagon, driven by a "big stoic Pole" who did not know what was in his load. The Pole had been merely instructed to deliver his load to the "job at Broad and Wall streets before 12 o'clock."

"In the wagon was a monster bomb of dynamite, about which broken pieces of cast iron sash weights had been packed."

"A clockwork device to set off the bomb had been adjusted to do its work at 2 minutes after 12 o'clock. The dynamite had been stolen from the stores of wrecking and excavating contractors; the sash weights had been gathered from the junk pile of a building wreckers yard."

After arriving at his destination, the story goes on, the driver was unable to drive in because of the barricades around the excavation. He drove his wagon along the curb while he went to find somebody to tell him where the load was to be put. While he was gone the story continues, the explosion occurred and in the ensuing confusion the Pole disappeared.

The World states that the "load" had not been ordered, that no one around the job was expecting it. "Now," the story concludes, "it is for the police and federal detectives to find out just who planned the ticking clock in its barrel of broken sash weights, driven by a man who did not know what was in his load, and who went away when he found out and never came back or sent word."

Dr. C. H. Denser, an alumnus of 1912, who later became all-Ohio end while at the University of Cincinnati, is the moving spirit in the proposal to hook up the married men and single men in gridiron combat. Other men who have won their letters at Central High and thus prepared, have won their scars in the great field of matrimony, are backing up the plan to get together on the squared plan with those of single blessedness as their opponents.

Scanning the list of graduates of the old school it would seem that most of the letter men have already taken up matrimony, and it is easy to see Almost Gave Up Raising Chickens. Then She Tried This Plan.

"When I accepted your offer and tried Don Sung, I was getting 1 or 2 eggs every other day. The next month, using Don Sung, my 11 hens laid 221 eggs. I almost quit raising chickens, but now I will raise as many as I can."—Mrs. F. C. Young, Bellefonte, Pa.

You also can easily start your hens laying and keep them laying, even in coldest winter. To prove it, accept our offer, as Mrs. Young did. Give your hens Don Sung and watch results for one month. If you don't find that it pays for itself and pays you a good profit besides, simply tell us and your money will be cheerfully refunded.

A NEW PRICE LIST BRINGS FOOD AND CLOTHES TO A LOWER LEVEL.

With clothing, shoes, vegetables, corn, wheat, flour, potatoes and other commodities steadily declining in price, there is again hope for the man of moderate means. Wheat and flour prices took another tumble at Chicago Tuesday. December wheat opened on the Chicago board at $1.89 a bushel and closed at $1.84 1-4, a loss of 5 3-4 cents from the closing price Saturday. March wheat opened at $1.84 a bushel and closed at $1.82, a loss of 5 cents from Saturday's closing price.

Flour went down to pre-war prices. In Minneapolis special patent brand dropped fifty cents a barrel, the price being $10 wholesale. The enormous corn crop and lack of European demand is largely responsible for lower prices in foodstuffs or the cereal branch of foodstuffs.

A convention of retail clothing dealers took place at Chicago same day to take action in regard to prices. Men's clothing for immediate delivery was offered at prices 10 to 40 per cent below present wholesale prices. Goods for spring and summer delivery were shown at prices 10 to 33 1-3 per cent under those a year ago. Men's shirts, underwear, socks and other articles show similar declines.

Six hundred retail clothing dealers from seventeen middle western states were attending the Chicago convention, and every day it was agreed that prices are slipping. W. L. Mohr, treasurer and general manager of the association, said: "The public is not buying, manufacturers and dealers are overstocked and the prices must come down. We have passed the peak in high prices of wearing apparel. This year we are not only showing stuff for future delivery, but we have immense stocks of apparel for immediate delivery. This, of course, is due to the money situation and the overstocked condition of the merchants and manufacturers."

"Men's clothing," he continued, "will be considerably cheaper from now on. The retailer can afford to sell at a lower price, for his costs are becoming lower. Here are some shirts which sold at wholesale for $45 a dozen a few months ago. Now they are offered at $16.50 a dozen. Here are 2000 suits offered at $16.50 and ordinarily they brought $45.70 a suit at wholesale. The price of $16.50 covers the cost of cutting, making and trimming only. The manufacturers cannot sell them at the old price, the age of extravagance has passed, and rather than let the goods rot on the shelves they are accepting what they can get for them."

On the principle of "live and let live," let us have common sense in all our dickering. We are bound to remember that often when we get "a great bargain" somebody else is losing—so let us be considerate in our demands. We are sure that most of our merchants would be ashamed to profiteer by taking more than a fair price.

A BIG JOB—HUNTING A MAN TO PUT THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY TOGETHER.

It is announced from Washington, presumably by those who know, that the Democratic party is looking for a new leader. Incidentally it probably is looking for some new voters, too, but that can wait. What it now wants is a leader who has some notion of organization and no personal affairs that will require much attention for the next four years.

Those who know say this search for new leadership is in no way a reflection on the able leaders who have just conducted the party to the worst defeat in the history of politics. Not at all. Chairman White is conceded to have done splendidly—he almost held the Solid South. Chairman Cummings, who preceded Mr. White in the pre-convention period, did splendidly also—he almost kept the anti-administration forces from capturing the convention and nominating the ticket.

The report has been printed within the last few days that Mr. Bryan, while shaving, had discovered in the mirror the very leader fitted in every way to put the party together again and make it go. Mr. Bryan intimated rather strongly that the man in the mirror was ready for the job. Mr. Bryan knows him personally and can recommend him. But without inquiring who this volunteer may be, those who know in Washington say with positiveness that he won't do. Without inquiring how old he is they say a younger man is wanted. Without inquiring where he is from they say a man from another part of the country is wanted. Without inquiring how many times he has been beaten for the presidency they say a man is wanted who hasn't been beaten three times.

The fact is, the task of putting the democratic party together again, is one of such herculean proportions that scarcely any one can be expected to do it in four years.

Napoleon Bonaparte scaled the Alps with an army, but that was nothing, compared to the task of the man who will undertake to re-assemble and put together the broken and dismembered Democratic party.

WASHINGTON CITY RUBBING ITS HANDS TOGETHER FOR THE INAUGURATION.

Washington, D. C., has heard about the election. Almost without inquiring who was elected—a detail that always can be ascertained at leisure—Washington started in making plans for the inaugural parade and ball. No doubt the committee of citizens to plan these impressive ceremonies already has been appointed and is well along in its work, which consists chiefly in drafting a bill for congress to pass appropriating money for expenses.

Washington regards an inauguration as the chief constitutional function imposed upon it as the capital of the nation. There have been occasions when the President was inducted into office without a parade or a ball, but Washington always has had its doubts as to the entire legality of such proceedings.

Washington is perfectly willing that a President should appoint his own cabinet, nor does it obtrude upon any executive function for which he can show constitutional warrant, but if he wants to impress the capital with that higher judgment, that nicety of discernment which distinguishes the really great, he will leave it to Washington to put on a ball that will mark his administration as a success from the beginning.

Washington has had experience enough to know that inauguration week always brings a big crowd to the capital. Washington likes to be host to that crowd and always tries to keep it from getting restless or homesick. Washington's every-day population is made up largely of department employees to whom government is no great novelty and the public buildings no great attraction. But visitors are different. They linger as long as they are entertained or impressed, and Washington's notion of the very highest expressions of those arts is an inaugural ball in the Pension building with the committee on ceremonies leading the grand march.

It is almost four months to inauguration, but Washington feels it is none too soon to get the ball tickets printed. Already a telegram has gone to the President-elect appraising him that there has been no delay. This will take a great anxiety off his mind. Soon the papers will be full of the preparations, including the names of the committees and the subscribers to the fund. Probably the dispatches will not mention, however, that the subscribers are reimbursed from the sale of the ball tickets. But nobody really wants to carp at Washington for making the most of inauguration. It has no election day like the rest of the country. It cannot vote, so why shouldn't it parade and dance and do a turn of business when patriotic America goes to the capital to start a new administration off in the way it should go?

RED CROSS PAGEANT PRESENTED THURSDAY EVENING DEPICTS WORK OF ORGANIZATION

"The Red Cross of Peace," the pageant to be presented by the local chapter of the Red Cross, at the Opera House, Thursday night in connection with the Fourth Roll Call of the Red Cross, will offer an opportunity to the citizens of the city, of seeing the production which has been presented by the different Red Cross chapters over the country to illustrate the work being done by the "Greatest Mother in the World."

The story of the pageant which is to be presented Thursday night, following the action of the program is as follows: The first scene opens with a bugle call, "Call to the Flag," and a prelude is given containing the "Spirit of Humanity." The characters of this scene are: Humanity, Clara Barton, Florence Nightingale, Two Civil War Soldiers and Nurses.

Action One deals with the work of the "Red Cross of War." The characters of this scene are: Junior Red Cross, Motor Corps, Sewing Department, Educational Department, Surfacting Department, Home Service, Overseas Personnel. The different characters of the Red Cross of War scene, is to show the work of the Red Cross during the war, while the pageant as a whole will illustrate the Red Cross work in peace.

Action Two, shows that the war being over, the Red Cross is presented with her discharge and commission and is to take up her work with the war's results. In Action Three, Red Cross outlines her proposed work, which is to deal with the returned soldier's troubles.

In the following scenes and actions, a different schedule must be followed by the World's Mother and other workers are needed to aid her. They are introduced as: Public Health Nurse, who offers one of the greatest services to the Red Cross and the Blind Child, the Disabled Soldier and the women, the immigrant mother and her children would suffer, if not for the service she renders.

Action Two of second part gives the audience a conception of the work of the Home Service Department and the players that present this take the parts of The Home Service Interviewer, the Soldier, Wife and Child, the Blind Soldier, Federal Board Student, Hospital Service Visitor, the Dependent Father and Mother, and the Compensable Client.

The great work of the Red Cross in regard to Child Welfare are brought out in Action Three, and a group of children are represented as participants in a toothbrush drill.

In Action Four, a phase of Red Cross work is presented that clearly shows the Red Cross service in peace time as well as war—The Disaster Service. The Tornado Victims with the Letter Writers Red Cross Physicians and Red Cross Representative are presented in this way.

The remainder of the "Red Cross of Peace" deals with the America of To-orrow, and its supporters, The Junior Red Cross, Mother and Children, Homeless Children, and the Red Cross aim of Happy Childhood the World Over.

Following the opportunity now presented to the audience for Red Cross memberships, the beautiful tableau, The Greatest Mother of All, will close the pageant.

The characters in the "Red Cross of Peace" will number about 200. Over 100 children will take part in the production, and the leading roles will be supported by other characters. The music will be furnished by the choir of Trinity and the Presbyterian churches, and will be in charge of Mrs. J. Perry Shumaker.

"The Red Cross of Peace" has been directed by Mrs. D. D. Jones, and great effort has been exercised by the workers interested in the pageant and the Red Cross, to further the play's success.

No admission will be charged for the production and all children under 12 years of age, that attend must be accompanied by an adult.

It is also urged that the people take part in "The Red Cross of Peace" to be present at the Opera House, promptly at 7 o'clock Thursday evening.

LADY DECLARES SHE CAN PROVE THAT DREO GAVE HER RELIEF

Her hands often went to sleep, and she had to rub them to start circulation; bowels were constipated, digestion very poor and nerves on edge.

"I feel better than I have in ten years, and have gained in weight since taking Dreco," are the words of that highly esteemed lady, Mrs. Lucile May of 99 W. Market, Tiffin, Ohio.

"My back used to feel that it would break; I was daily constipated, couldn't eat much because my digestion was so poor; my nerves were on edge and my sleep very light so that I'd wake from any slight noise."

"My hands often went to sleep, and I'd have to rub and pound them to get the circulation started. All these troubles are gone since taking Dreco. I never have a backache; sleep sound; have a fine appetite; bowels act regular every day; am gaining in weight and feel great. If anyone has any doubts about Dreco, I can prove to them what it will do."

Dreco acts on the vital organs to build them up, so that they perform, as Nature intends. Dreco does not just "boost you up," while you take it, but restores the organs to normal healthy activity. That is why Dreco results are lasting. All druggists, now sell Dreco and it is being especially introduced in Xenia at Sohn's drug store.

ALTHOUGH 85 HE FEELS YOUNGER AND LUCKIER, TOO

Luck Came With Nerv-Worth, Which Lifted Part of the Burdens of Age

It is a standing claim that Nerv-Worth "blesses equally the nervous child and the worn out veteran," and here is the best of proof of the latter part of the claim, at least:

Nerv-Worth Co.—I, Barney Des-sell, do hereby recommend Nerv-Worth to the public using myself as an example to the wonderful qualities of this great tonic and body-builder. I can say that I have been taking Nerv-Worth according to directions for one week and the results have been evident to myself and the public in general. I feel younger, also luckier; I am now eighty-five years old and do not have that drowsy feeling I had before taking the "Life-Restorer." I wish to thank the druggist who recommended Nerv-Worth to me and to advise anyone who feels worn out to try one bottle.

RHEUMATISM LEAVES YOU FOREVER

Deep Seated Uric Acid Deposits Are Dissolved and the Rheumatic Poison Starts to Leave the System Within Twenty-four Hours.

Every druggist in this county is authorized to say to every rheumatic sufferer that of two bottles of Allenru, the sure conqueror of rheumatism, does not stop all agony, reduce swollen joints and go away with even the slightest twinge of rheumatic pain, he will gladly return your money without comment.

Allenru has been tried and tested for years, and really marvellous results have been accomplished in the most severe cases where the suffering and agony was intense and pitiable and where the patient was helpless.

Mr. James H. Allen, the discoverer of Allenru, who for many years suffered the tortures of acute rheumatism, desires all sufferers to know that does not want a cent of anyone's money unless Allenru decisively conquers this worst of all diseases and he instructs Sayre & Hemphill to see it in every instance.

Mrs. W. F. Harper and Mrs. F. M. Titus entertained with a thimble party on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Harper. White and yellow chrysanthemums were the decorations about the rooms. Cake, ices, coffee and mint were served by the hostesses. About sixty invitations were issued. Mrs. Earl Rakestraw of Xenia was the only out of town guest.

Home-made Remedy Stops Coughs Quickly

The best cough medicine you ever used. A family supply easily and quickly made. Saves about $2.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough, is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments. It's cheap, but for prompt results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant, too—children like it—and it is pure and good.

Pour 2½ ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle; then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. Thus you make a full pint—a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promptly heals the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. Splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, famous for its healing effect on the membranes. To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

AUTO AND HORSE COLLIDE IN TROY

Troy, O., Nov. 10.—Becoming frightened by the headlights of an automobile driven by Chester Hinkle, of Troy, formerly connected with the Gazette and Republican of Xenia, a horse drawing a buggy, reared and plunged an iron-shod hoof through the windshield of the car early Sunday evening, here.

Ed Starry, of Troy, who was driving the buggy, was accompanied by Misses Georgia, Charlotte and Nanette Campbell.

The buggy which was en route east on Water street, was almost completely wrecked and the horse was cut about the legs.

Miss Georgia Campbell sustained a cut an inch in length on the cheek and Miss Charlotte Campbell was cut on the elbow. Mr. Starry had an artery at the base of the nose severed and he lost considerable blood. Mr. Hinkle in his car was not injured.

It is said that the accident was unavoidable and that both drivers were proceeding slowly. It is claimed that Mr. Starry was on the right side of the street and the light on the buggy was burning and that Mr. Hinkle made too short a turn. Mr. Hinkle stated that the accident was due to the street light at the intersection of Mulberry and Water being out and he thinks that the headlights on his car frightened the horse.

The automobile was so badly damaged that it was necessary to take it to the Westcott factory for repairs Monday morning, though it was able to run on its own power.

Don't use cheap butter!

The Famous Golmar Test Example No. 17 Golmar on Corn Bread

PLACE a pat of Golmar and one of fresh creamery butter side by side. Spread a piece of corn bread with the Golmar and another with the creamery butter. Take a bite of one and then of the other. We challenge you to tell which is Golmar. Golmar is the equal of and is equalled only by fresh creamery butter.

The same coloring matter used in creamery butter is supplied with Golmar so you can color it at home and save the tax of 10 cents per pound which the Government would collect if Golmar were colored by the makers.

GOLMAR
Made especially for table use

WHY use cheap butter—because you think you can't afford fresh creamery butter—when you can buy Golmar at just as low a price?

And Golmar will give you every advantage of the freshest and best creamery butter you ever used. Golmar is exactly the same in taste, in deliciousness, in wholesomeness and digestibility, as fresh creamery butter. You simply cannot tell any difference between them.

Yet Golmar costs you less than creamery butter because it is made of pure, sweet oil of cocoanuts instead of expensive dairy products. It has every body-building element of creamery butter. Put Golmar on your table and listen to the family comment about the "good butter!" This is hard to believe, but it is true and you can prove it any time you wish.

Golmar is churned daily, and comes to your kitchen in perfect condition. It stays fresh amply long enough for a small family to use a pound.

Get a package from your dealer today and prove to your own satisfaction that you may have all of the advantages of fresh, rich creamery butter—at the price of cheap butter! Your money refunded if you are not satisfied.

NOT WORKING BUT TIRED OUT

When one feels always tired out working, or suffers from back-ache, lumbago, rheumatic pains, sore muscles or stiff joints it is not always easy to locate the source of trouble, but very frequently it can be traced to overworked, weakened or diseased kidneys. Fine woodworking shows in Brunswick cabinet

WHILE most people buy The Brunswick because of its superior tone and its ability to play all records at their best, no one overlooks the beautiful cabinet work and finish.

In this particular, it is natural that The Brunswick should be supreme, for the House of Brunswick has been noted for nearly a century for its craftsmanship in wood.

The Brunswick Method of Reproduction is a many-year development.

First it brought the Ultona, the first in-built, all-record reproducer—then The Brunswick Tone Amplifier.

In this finer instrument the amplifier is entirely of wood, like a violin, and tone waves can expand properly. Every acoustic law is observed.

Hear, then compare

The way to fully appreciate the superiority of The Brunswick is to hear it, then make comparison. Your ear will quickly decide in favor of The Brunswick.

You'll appreciate how far in advance The Brunswick is; you'll admire its superior tone. The proof of the pudding is—Hearing. All we ask you to do is to investigate The Brunswick with your own ears.

VILLAGE OF OSBORN FAVORED IN DECISION OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS HANDED DOWN IN TERRITORY ANNEXATION FIGHT THURSDAY

Modifying the petitions of both the villages of Osborn and Fairfield to annex certain territories, the County Commissioners rendered a decision in the case which has long been fought between the two corporations, Thursday morning.

Under the modifications of both petitions, Osborn was favored by the Commissioners, in that it was granted the majority of the territory requested in its annexation petition, while Fairfield was granted territory which will take in a location along the new site of the Ohio Electric Railway.

Judge Marcus Shoup, attorney for the village of Fairfield recommended to the village that the decision of the Commissioners be accepted, but whether the village will abide by this recommendation or not, is not known. In the latter case, the question will have to be threshed out before the Commissioners again and another form of adjustment made. Attorney Morris D. Rice, representing the Osborn Removal Company, expressed himself as satisfied to abide by the arrangement of the commissioners.

The fight for territory between the two villages in the northwest part of the county, began when the Miami Conservancy District, in its campaign of flood prevention, absorbed the present site of Osborn in the flood district. The District purchased the land and property of the village and necessitated the removal of the Big Four and Erie Steam railroads and the Ohio Electric railway from that village to a point outside of the flood district.

In order to preserve the name of the village, enterprising citizens of that village formed the Osborn Removal Company, with its purpose a gigantic scheme to remove, the entire village from its present site to a new location along the railroad tracks. In order to do this the Company prayed in a petition to the Commissioners to annex considerable territory between the tracks of the two steam railroads, which are parallel and the Ohio Electric tracks for some distance.

giving the village vantage from all three roads. It also asked for the annexation of a narrow strip of territory 75 by 1800 feet leading from the present site to the new site, this being necessary to preserve the name and original charter of the village. It is the object of the Company to remove the village, its principal buildings, utilities and property to the new site, and there to re-locate.

When Fairfield learned of the proposal it objected, claiming that the removal of Osborn to a point so near Fairfield would absorb the latter village and absorb the latter village and absorb the latter village and absorb the latter village.

The matter then developed into a fight to see which village would be able to annex the desired territory on both railroads. The new proposed site of Osborn is directly on these roads on one side and on the Ohio Electric tracks on the other, but in order for Fairfield to secure territory along the steam road tracks it would be necessary to annex considerable territory leading from that village to the railroad sites.

In its petition the village of Fairfield asked for the annexation of 75.6 acres on the side opposite the Ohio Electric tracks from the present village, and including the two steam railroads. The new territory asked for use of the two pikes running parallel in that direction as boundaries, but did not include the pikes. The Commissioners in modifying the petition, granted Fairfield 23.9 acres, including 21 acres lying between the village and the Ohio Electric and including the properties of Daniel Lang, Lewis Miller and Richman addition. Mr. Lang and Mr. Miller through their attorney C. L. Burlington, of this city, were attempting to be taken into the village of Osborn. The tract given the village of Fairfield includes the Ohio parallel and the Ohio Electric tracks for some distance.

The Commissioners then granted to Osborn all of the territory asked for in the petition of that village with the exception of the 23.9 acres granted to Fairfield. Osborn, by its petition, is given part of the tracks of the Ohio Electric Railway on either side of that portion granted to Fairfield, however, the boundary lines of the two villages under the new agreement, being the same. In case the agreement meets with the approval of Fairfield and the villages build in that direction, the two corporations will join.

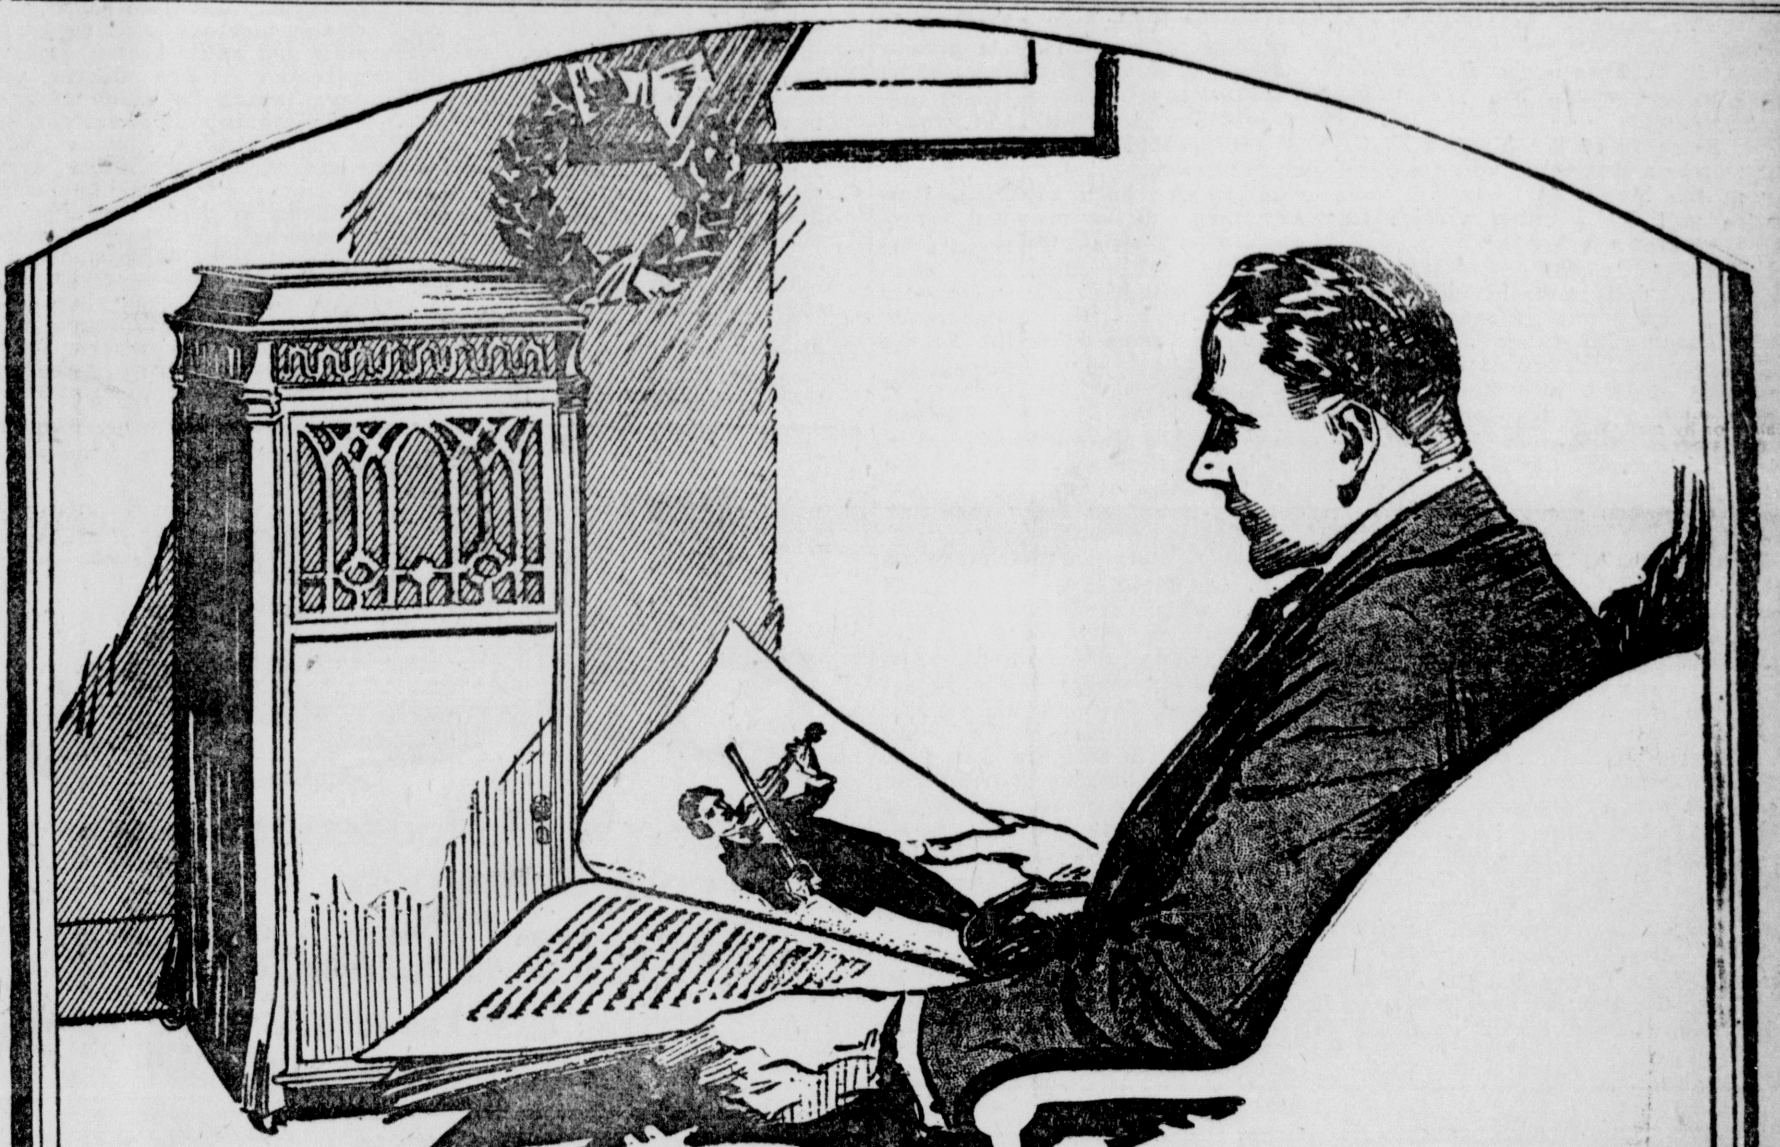

If the decision of the County Commissioners is found agreeable to both villages, the Osborn Removal Company will at once continue its plans to re-locate the village on its new site. It is not expected however, that the work will be actually commenced until next spring, but in the next three years it is proposed to move all of the buildings at present located in Osborn to their new sites in the new village of that name. A new station has been constructed along the railroad sites in Osborn.

Officials of the Osborn Removal Company are Harry E. Frahn, president; F. C. Massie, vice president; H. R. Kendig, secretary; Morris D. Rice, attorney; J. S. Hower, G. E. Bailey, O. B. Kauffman, F. M. Copenhaver and Earl D. Burroughs.

"TWIN BEDS" FINDS FAVOR IN CINCINNATI

If all the nice things that are said about the farce "Twin Beds" which is appearing at the Grand Theater Cincinnati this week, are true, the offering which will come to the Opera House, November 16, is going to be popular with Xenia patrons.

A cordial welcome was given the farce at the Grand by Cincinnati patrons, according to the Enquirer critic, who says Miss Zaina Curzon, the star in the piece, "It is to Zaina Curzon that the appealing whimsicality that puts this delightful farce on a plane of its own. Miss Curzon imparts to the role a delicacy of expression, an indefinable charm of voice, gestures and mannerisms that stamp her as a finished actress and a more than capable comedienne."

CHARLES THE BOLD
November 10, 1433

Charles the Bold, Duke of Burgundy is an important character in history because he is said to have represented the last of the feudal spirit, in contrast to his rival, Louis XI of France who represented the beginning of modern politics.

Charles was born at Dijon, Burgundy, then a little province having a court all its own. He spent some of his youth with Louis XI, when Louis and dauphin and a refugee from Paris at the Burgundian court. The rivalry began when the French king bought back some towns on the river Somme, which had been given temporarily to Charles' father, Charles led his army against that of Louis' gained the towns and the promise of the king's daughter in marriage—the daughter being then an infant.

The rivalry grew with the years. Charles conquered the many small countries which are now western France and when he could not conquer by arms he purchased with money. He bought rights in Alsace and Lorraine, and in Flanders he was called the "grand duke of the West."

But he wished to be more than duke—he wanted to be king and emperor. It was another case of overreaching ambition. He made too many enemies, his armies were defeated, he himself killed fighting under the walls of Nancy—a town destined to see even bloodier fighting in the French Revolution and the World War.

Charles was in his forties when he died. He had married three times, his last wife being the sister of Edward IV of England.

"The Woman He Married"

BY JANE PHELPS

THE WOMAN HE MARRIED
Dick Brings Home Good News.

Chapter 10
"Hurrah, everybody!" Dick came in so boisterously that both Mother and I looked up in surprise.

"What is it? What has happened?" we chorused.

"Got a raise! And the Kid's got that!" He threw a bank book on the bed with an entry of $100 in the name of Richard Williams, Junior.

"How much of a raise?" I asked. "Fifty dollars! $200 a month! I feel like a millionaire. I stopped and paid the druggist, and will send the doctor his check tomorrow. Gee! but it's good to be able to pay them!"

"You seem to think more of paying them than of our being able to have things a little better, more like other people!" I said peevishly, forgetting Mother was in the room and listening.

"Nan!" her voice startled me. "You mustn't talk like that, Dear Dick is right. His first thought should have been his honest obligations to others, and after that your own comfort."

I said no more. I did not care to provoke further discussion along those lines. But I noticed the light died out of Dick's eyes, and he left the room very quietly.

For some time Mother didn't speak and I lay resting and planning what I would do with that extra $50 a month. In the first place, I would get myself some stylish, pretty clothes. Then we must move—I wanted an apartment like Clara Watson's, an elevator apartment so that I wouldn't be ashamed to ask people to call.

"Nan, child. I must talk to you." Mother interrupted my thoughts.

"Dick is very bright, a very clever young man. He is bound to make good—if you do not hinder him."

"Hinder him—what do you mean?" By urging him to make more money all the time, and by being careless about debt and so forth. I don't quite understand you. Nan. You Never saw us run in debt at home. We had what we could pay for, no more."

"Everyone I know runs bills."

"If they run bills beyond what their income warrants, they are dishonest. It is a convenience sometimes to have charge accounts, but it is also a temptation. It is so easy to say, 'charge it' and often impossible to pay cash. And many times, Dear, the very thing we charge is something we can very well do without. I don't want to meddle—the officious mother-in-law never appealed to me. But this time it is your mother who is finding fault with her own daughter."

Mother said this whimsically, smiling at me. But I was offended at the same, and answered her sharply:

"I've been married over a year! I think I can run my own affairs pretty well. Dick never has found any fault with me."

"Dick isn't the fault-finding kind, Dear. But he has looked terribly worried at times while you have been ill. He has had very little appetite and seemed absent minded. I saw he was trying to keep it from me as well as you, so I said nothing. But his expression when he told of his raise said as plainly as words that it was the expense of your illness he had been worrying about—the necessity of running into debt. I wish you had saved just a little each month—just a couple of hundred dollars in all would have tided you over nicely. But it is all right now, and it may be a lesson to you. Try always to have just a little in case of sickness or some emergency."

Mother left to get dinner when she finished her talk, and I was glad to be spared the necessity of answering. I felt pained, cross that she should have taken me to task I was a married woman now, a mother. I could manage my own affairs.

I loved my mother, devotedly but the knowledge that I had done wrong, that I deserved all she had said and more, made it hard to bear—especially as I had no idea of doing as she suggested.

Save money—no indeed! Not while I needed so many things. Afterward, perhaps. When we had all the things I planned, why then we would save. Mother left us a week later. She said no more about our expenditures until just as she left. Then she said:

"Remember dear, what I told you about marketing. It will do you good to get out each day. Put baby in his go-cart, and take him along. And Nan, don't run into debt! It will bring unhappiness to you if you do."

The COUNTRY GENTLEMAN

He says it's time we were getting a correct view of this important question—and then he carefully outlines that correct view.

He shows how tenantry has become almost the only way to land ownership in these days when land is high. He shows that the tenant, on the average, is a farmer of ability, who is enriching the farm he hopes some day to own, not a soil robber who sees no further than immediate cash returns. You'll be interested in this splendid story—if not as a landlord or tenant then as a friend of good farming practices. And you'll be interested, too, in the many other articles on tenantry that will come to you in the next 52 weeks, along with sound guidance on every other farm problem and entertainment for the whole family—if you send me $1.00 today.

Too Weak to Do Anything

The ordinary every-day life of most women is a ceaseless treadmill of work. How much harder the tasks become when some derangement peculiar to her sex makes every movement painful, and keeps the nervous system all unstrung until life seems hardly worth living. Every woman in this condition should profit by the experience of these two women whose letters follow.

Read the Experience of These Two Women

Reading, Pa.—"I had organic inflammation, pains in the side and back which were so sharp that they pulled me to my knees, and I could not walk. I had an operation and still I failed, and in the eight years I suffered I had four doctors and none helped me. My mother-in-law advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was then in bed, and after the first bottle I could be out of bed, then I took Vegetable Compound Tablets and Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine and also used the Sanative Wash. I still take the medicine and am able now to do my own housework. My friends say, 'My! but you look well—what do you do? Who is your doctor?' And there is only one answer, 'Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines which I gladly recommend.'"—Mrs. Wm. STEIN, 560 Douglas Street, Reading, Pa.

Gainesville, Tex.—"For three years I suffered untold agony each month with pains in my side. I found only temporary relief in doctor's medicine or anything else I took until my husband and I saw an advertisement of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I mentioned it to a neighbor and she told me she had taken it with good results, and advised me to try it. I was then in bed part of the time, and my doctor said I would have to be operated on, but we decided to try the Vegetable Compound, and I also used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. I am a dressmaker and am now able to go about my work, and do my housework besides. You are welcome to use this letter as a testimonial as I am always glad to speak a word for your medicine."—Mrs. W. M. STEPHENS, 202 Harvey St., Gainesville, Texas.
